Berlin Says Birmingham And Chatham Damaged; Empire Troops Massing

By International News Service Germany's first blows in the new battle of the middle east were revealed today.

More than 100 civilians were declared to have been killed in a heavy axis air raid on the Egyptian port of Alexandria last night.

A London broadcast said also that "French-type" planes manned by Germans, bombed Amman, capital of Transjordan, in reprisal for yesterday's RAF bombing of the Shell Co. oil depot at Beirut in Syria.

Nevertheless, authoritative British quarters said that bombing attacks on Syria would continue.

Fighting otherwise was on a restricted scale. Germany announced air blows against Birmingham and Chatham, England. Submarines reportedly sank 24,000 more tons of British shipping.

The RAF ranged from Norway to France. Bomb hits were reported on a 5,000-ton vessel off Norway and on a number of cargo vessels at Zeebrugge in Belgium. Boulogne and other points in France were blasted.

Artillery fire continued to shake the ground around Tobruk in Libya.

In Cairo military observers predicted that a blow-up—with Syria at stake—is inescapable.

British Massing

Large contingents of the British imperial army were reported massed on the borders of Palestine and Transjordan, ready for the signal that would send them driving north.

Confronting them, these reports said, were at least one full German division and French forces now under Vichy's orders to defend Syria against any attack.

8,000 WORKERS RETURN AFTER APPEAL BY DEWEY

DETROIT, June 5—After being told that President Roosevelt was concerned about the walkout because of its effect on national defense, 8,000 striking CIO Great Lakes Steel workers returned to their jobs today to resume production of steel for defense projects.

Heading the plea of Federal Conciliator James F. Dewey who told them they "would get as good a contract as any other in the industry," the men returned to their jobs approximately 40 hours after a surprise walkout at the main Great Lakes steel plant and its subsidiary Michigan Steel Company.

GASOLINELESS SUNDAYS IN EAST TO BE ASKED

WASHINGTON, June 5—Voluntary "gasolineless Sundays" or other restrictions on the pleasure use of oil products may be requested in the east "in a month or so," Secretary of Interior Ickes declared today.

Asked at a press conference if there was a possibility of voluntary restrictions being resorted to in that period of time, he replied, "It is very probable in the east." Ickes is coordinator of the nation's petroleum resources.

CIO Leader Denies Right Of Agency To Order Men To Jobs

WASHINGTON, June 5—President Roosevelt's proclamation that labor disputes in defense industries must be adjusted without strikes was openly flaunted today after a CIO strike leader defied the National Mediation Board to force a truce in a strike of 20,000 lumber workers in the Pacific northwest.

With the showdown over powers of the mediation board arrived at long last, the next move was up to the board or to Mr. Roosevelt himself.

The full board of 22 members was called into session today to consider what steps to take next. Dr. Clarence A. Dykstra, NDMB chairman, declared that the position of the union, the International Woodworkers of America head- (Continued on Page Seven)

VON MACKENSEN, OTHERS ATTEND KAISER'S RITES

BERLIN, June 5—The pomp and circumstance of imperial Germany will be revived for a brief moment on Monday when former Kaiser Wilhelm II is buried at Doorn, the retreat in Holland where he lived in exile for 23 years.

On his journey to the grave the body of the one-time war lord, who ended his life as the old "wood chopper of Doorn," will be accompanied by a select group of the "old guard" and generals wearing the spiked helmets and military panoply of the imperial Reich.

According to funeral arrangements announced today the group of generals will be headed by 92-year-old Field Marshal August Von Mackensen, who was invited to attend the funeral by the ex-Kaiser's eldest son, former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm.

Both Von Mackensen and Prince Friedrich Wilhelm will wear the uniforms of the Death Head Hussars at the burial ceremonies.

The Nazi Reich will be represented by Air General Christianen, commander-in-chief of the Netherlands, who has been delegated Chancellor Hitler's personal representative at the funeral. He will appear in the blue uniform of the Nazi luftwaffe.

GOVERNOR SIGNS BILL TO BAN 'ANTIS' FROM BALLOT

COLUMBUS, June 5—Ohio elections were virtually closed to un-American groups today when Gov. John W. Bricker signed a bill to bar them from the ballot on findings made by the secretary of state.

The bill was one of 18 signed by the governor today. With 24 signed yesterday it brings the total of the last two days to 42, and leaves 17 acts of the 1941 legislature to be approved or vetoed.

Guard To Begin Its Trek Back Home In September

WASHINGTON, June 5—Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, urged congress to make the draft law permanent, it was disclosed today in testimony made public by the House Appropriations Committee.

At the same time, Gen. Marshall declared present plans are for the National Guard to start going out of service next September 15, and that they will be returned to their states 250,000 strong to keep in shape with drills once a week.

The chief of staff also told the committee that the Army has no plans to keep draftees in service beyond their one-year term. Questioned by committee members if he favored a permanent draft, Gen. Marshall declared:

"I believe that Selective Service provides the only practical and economical method of maintaining the military force that we inevitably are going to be required to have in the future and I think, with all my heart, that Selective Service is a necessity to the maintenance of a true democracy."

Gen. Marshall praised the morale of the expanding army, but he declared that because troops are kept for extended times in camp rather than being sent abroad as during the World War that the "maintenance of morale is much more difficult and expensive business now."

Equipment Also Goes

He said the guard would go out in units as they complete their year of training, and that most of their equipment will go back to the states with them. Draftees who go out and do not drill weekly as the guard does, will be given refresher courses by the Army if they are called back, he said.

The chief of staff, in a detailed outline of defense progress, declared that "when Europe blazed, time rather than money became the vital issue in a chaotic world."

Other highlights of his testimony included: A statement that "the change of status of the French fleet" recently altered seacoast defense plans, and that all equipment on the coast is being rapidly modernized.

To Expand Bases

That the Army probably will ask more money later to expand facilities on the eight bases obtained from the British in the trade of 50 destroyers.

That he plans to motorize five additional divisions to give the country a total of six infantry units which travel completely on wheels.

FOOD FOR ARMY, NAVY USE MOVES DESPITE STRIKE

NEW YORK, June 5—After being blocked for 10 hours, Army and Navy food supplies were being moved out on regular schedule today despite a strike of 1,450 AFL warehousemen in 75 New York City dry and cold storage plants.

Informed that the government would not tolerate any interference with its property, the strikers agreed to allow skeleton crews to keep the military supplies moving pending State Mediation Board action in the wage-increase dispute.

Millions of dollars in foodstuffs and supplies for Great Britain are being held up by the strike, according to government officials. Spokesmen for the strikers denied that goods intended for Britain's aid were affected.

RAINFALL NEAR FIVE INCH MARK

Scioto River Falls After Downpour Stops; All Highways Clear

Pickaway County farm lands, Thursday, were drying off after being soaked with five days of rain, which swelled streams, inundated bottom lands and brought 4.77 inches of rainfall to break the season's drought.

Scioto River was falling, after reaching a crest of 12.26 feet Wednesday about 4:30 p. m. and, with a prediction of fair weather from the weatherman, will probably be back to normal in a few days.

State highway men and officials at the county engineer's office reported all roads clear. The Walnut Creek Pike was inundated in one section for a short time Wednesday, county officers said, and water was reported over Route 56 near Laurelville, but both roads were in good condition Thursday.

With continued cool temperatures, corn which is standing in water will not be seriously injured, County Agent F. K. Blair says. However, hot sun will scald the corn in a short time.

Temperatures Thursday were in the sixties, the official low Thursday morning being 57. High Wednesday was 65.

PITTSBURGH, June 5—Fair weather and a bright sun eased flood fears in Pittsburgh today, although a 28-foot crest was expected to follow 36 hours of torrential rains that caused at least four deaths and untold damage along the Monongehala River in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Flood stage at the "point," where the Monongehala and Allegheny Rivers skirt Pittsburgh's "golden triangle," and converge to form the Ohio, is 25 feet. At 10 o'clock this morning, the stage at the "point" was 25.5 feet and rising slowly.

AIR CORPS TO SET UP MANY LANDING FIELDS

WASHINGTON, June 5—The Army Air Corps today disclosed it has started surveys for construction of 400 emergency landing fields along U. S. highways.

Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, air corps chief, told the House Roads Committee these fields will be constructed by widening highways at strategic points. He declined to discuss their probable locations.

Estimating they will cost about $50,000 each, he said they would be used for possible "mass movement" of planes.

BELIEVING that Axis forces will continue their drive to break the back of British resistance in the Middle East, the British are making last-minute preparations for the defense of the island of Cyprus, a strongly fortified point; Alexandria, the Suez Canal, Palestine and their other eastern Mediterranean strongholds. British reports state that hundreds of German war planes have been based in French-mandated Syria and that thousands of Nazi "tourists" have entered the country. Black areas on the above map indicate German-occupied territories; shaded areas indicate nations that have co-operated with the Axis. Acquisition of new bases has placed German and Italian forces in position to endanger Turkey gravely.

79 BRITONS HERE TO BE TRAINED FOR RAF DUTIES

LOS ANGELES, June 5—First of 7,000 cadets to be trained in the United States for service in Britain's Royal Air Force, 49 young Englishmen were in Los Angeles today, fresh from London.

The fledgling pilots traveled to Los Angeles from London via Montreal and will be given basic training at Grand Central Air Terminal School, directed by Major C. C. Mosley, American World War aviator.

After 150 hours primary training here under the instruction of the United States Army Air Corps officers, the cadets will return to England for gunnery work.

PHONE PATRONS TO ENJOY SLASH IN CALL COSTS

CLEVELAND, June 5—Long-distance telephone users in Ohio will save more than $500,000 annually as a result of rate reductions as announced yesterday by the Federal Communications Commission, Randolph Elide, president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., asserted today.

In a prepared statement, Elide said:

"From information available, it appears that Ohio long-distance users can look forward to a total savings of more than $500,000 per year as a result of these reductions. Rates and practices involving calls within Ohio are under the jurisdiction of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission. While interstate and intra-state rate schedules are not always identical, the Ohio Bell Telephone Company has sought to maintain them in reasonable harmony and will continue to follow that policy."

SCHOOL BOARD PLANS APPEAL

County Educators Carry On Effort To Combine Two Townships

Pickaway County's Board of Education Wednesday night voted to carry its court litigation with the Muhlenberg board to the Ohio Supreme Court. School officials said the vote was unanimous.

The board's action will send the Muhlenberg controversy to the Supreme Court for the second time. The Supreme court previously refused to hear the case.

The board's attorney, Charles Gerhardt, will appeal the case, lost by the county board in the Common Pleas and the Appeals Court, on the grounds that the county board, under section 4736 of the Ohio General Code, has authority to create a new school district from the combined Monroe and Muhlenberg school districts. He contends that the board's action is not limited by centralization provisions of the General Code, holding that once a school district is centralized by a two-thirds vote of its electors, it cannot be decentralized without a similar vote.

In the decision of the Common Pleas Court, Judge George McDowell of Hillsboro held that the Muhlenberg board was justified in maintaining its identity as a separate school system under the centralization clause of the code.

The county board includes C. E. Dick, Monroe Township; J. F. Willis, Perry Township; Homer Reiser, Walnut Township; B. W. Young, Pickaway Township; and S. J. Kendrick, Monroe Township. George D. McDowell, county superintendent, is clerk of the board.

SIX ON 4H CLUB PICNIC DIE AS BOAT CAPSIZES

JONESBORO, Ark., June 5—An investigation was started today into the deaths of five children and a man who were drowned last night when a motorboat capsized 150 feet from shore in Craighead Forest Lake.

The tragedy occurred at an outing of the Harrisburg, Ark., 4-H Club. The victims were Freda Lee Harris, 12, Catherine Jones, 14, Ruby Nell Bradsher, 8, Alene Turner, 16, Lucille Condra, 8, and H. R. Mauzy, 50, a Jonesboro plumber.

Mauzy had built the craft himself and had a boatload of youngsters on its first ride when it capsized. Four children were saved.

North American Company Official Tells Workmen To Stay Home Until Strike Ends; Mediation Conference On

LOS ANGELES, June 5—Work on production of $200,000,000 in military planes for the United States and Great Britain was halted today when the North American Aviation Company at Inglewood shut down, three hours after CIO aircraft workers began a strike for higher wages and a closed shop.

"No North American aviation employees are to report to work today, pending further instructions from the National Defense Mediation Board in Washington," said an announcement by the company.

Spokesmen for the company would not say who ordered the shut down of the big plant, but indicated the order came from J. H. Kindelberger, president of the company and now in Washington where union and company officials are negotiating before the Defense Mediation Board.

As 3,500 night workers left their jobs at 3 o'clock this morning, picket lines were established by the members of the CIO United Auto Workers' Union, aircraft division. Inside the plant maintenance workers remained at their posts.

Only a handful of police officers were outside the plant, but hundreds more were kept in reserve at a nearby station, it was learned.

More than 1,200 machinists belonging to the AFL Aircraft Machinists Union were due to report to work a half hour before the company announced it would not operate today. The machinists, declaring the strike an "outlaw," had announced they would go through the picket lines.

Aided by two sound trucks, the strikers carried banners which defied the Washington negotiations, stating "Negotiations in Washington have Collapsed—Your Power is Here."

Shutdown Surprise

Announcement of the shutdown came as a complete surprise, since Kindelberger had previously announced in Washington that the company would endeavor to keep operating.

More than 12,000 workers are affected by the strike which was called late last night by six members of the union, acting independently of negotiations before the Mediation Board in Washington.

The strike was announced by William P. Goodman, acting chairman of the union committee in the absence of Lew Michener, spokesman, who has been attending the negotiations in Washington.

Goodman charged that the mediation board had joined with the company to delay a CIO closed shop and wage boosts and that "the men were tired of stalling."

Last Saturday the union, after taking a vote, agreed to postpone any walkouts while the case was before the mediation board, but at 10 o'clock last night CIO workers in the plant were notified by Goodman's committee that the strike would be called.

Contracts Important

The North American Company holds contracts to build mostly training planes for the United States and Britain, but it cooperates with other major aircraft plants in the area which are engaged in constructing fighting planes.

The big Douglas bombers usually are brought to North American grounds before hopping off for Canada for a final "going over."

Explaining the sudden decision to call the strike, Goodman charged the Federal Mediation Board had joined with the company to delay wage boosts and a closed CIO shop.

"For almost two months," he said, "negotiations have been going on between the workers' bargaining committee and the management. Today we are as far apart as we were at the beginning of these sessions. . . North American workers can not stand further delay. They feel their demand for a 75-cents-an-hour minimum wage and a blanket increase of 10 cents an hour can easily be met by the company."

European Bulletins

CAIRO — British authorities charged today that hundreds of Greeks at Athens were court martialled and sentenced to death by Nazi officials after riots broke out between the Greeks and German soldiers at Levadia. The fight began when a freight train loaded with supplies was attacked by the Greeks, who began to unload it. German police intervened, it was stated, and in the ensuing riot many persons including women were said to have been wounded.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica—The German and Italian governments protested jointly to Costa Rica today against the assertedly "illegal" confiscation of the hulls of the Axis steamers Eisenach and Fella, which were scuttled some weeks ago in Puntarenas Harbor.

LISBON, Portugal — Another contingent of fully equipped Portuguese troops was enroute to the Azores Islands today to reinforce the protective garrison there.

MELBOURNE, Australia—Premier R. G. CHURCH SCORES NAME'S USE BY ANTI-WAR GROUP

NEW YORK, June 5—The Catholic Church in the United States today lodged a sharp protest with the America First Committee over the distribution of a leaflet purporting to reflect the Catholic hierarchy's position on peace.

In a letter to the pro-isolationist committee, the most Rev. Edward Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, and chairman of the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, charged that the leaflet did not reflect the views of the church.

"I am directed by the chairman of the administrative board," the letter said, "to protest the unfair, partisan use of the statement by quoting a few sentences out of their context and to condemn the devious tactics of endeavoring to use the influence of the board in favor of the America First Committee."

County Educators Carry On Effort To Combine Two Townships

Pickaway County's Board of Education Wednesday night voted to carry its court litigation with the Muhlenberg board to the Ohio Supreme Court. School officials said the vote was unanimous.

The board's action will send the Muhlenberg controversy to the Supreme Court for the second time. The Supreme court previously refused to hear the case.

The board's attorney, Charles Gerhardt, will appeal the case, lost by the county board in the Common Pleas and the Appeals Court, on the grounds that the county board, under section 4736 of the Ohio General Code, has authority to create a new school district from the combined Monroe and Muhlenberg school districts. He contends that the board's action is not limited by centralization provisions of the General Code, holding that once a school district is centralized by a two-thirds vote of its electors, it cannot be decentralized without a similar vote.

In the decision of the Common Pleas Court, Judge George McDowell of Hillsboro held that the Muhlenberg board was justified in maintaining its identity as a separate school system under the centralization clause of the code.

The county board includes C. E. Dick, Monroe Township; J. F. Willis, Perry Township; Homer Reber, Walnut Township; B. W. Young, Pickaway Township; and S. J. Kendrick, Monroe Township. George D. McDowell, county superintendent, is clerk of the board.

SIX ON 4H CLUB PICNIC DIE AS BOAT CAPSIZES

JONESBORO, Ark., June 5—An investigation was started today into the deaths of five children and a man who were drowned last night when a motorboat capsized 150 feet from shore in Craighead Forest Lake.

The tragedy occurred at an outing of the Harrisburg, Ark., 4-H Club. The victims were Freda Lee Harris, 12, Catherine Jones, 14, Ruby Nell Bradsher, 8, Alene Turner, 16, Lucille Condra, 8, and H. R. Mauzy, 50, a Jonesboro plumber.

Mauzy had built the craft himself and had a boatload of youngsters on his first ride when it capsized. Four children were saved.

200 Millions In Contracts Held Up By Dispute

North American Company Official Tells Workmen To Stay Home Until Strike Ends; Mediation Conference On

LOS ANGELES, June 5—Work on production of $200,000,000 in military planes for the United States and Great Britain was halted today when the North American Aviation Company at Inglewood shut down, three hours after CIO aircraft workers began a strike for higher wages and a closed shop.

"No North American aviation employees are to report to work today, pending further instructions from the National Defense Mediation Board in Washington," said an announcement by the company.

Spokesmen for the company would not say who ordered the shut down of the big plant, but indicated the order came from J. H. Kindelberger, president of the company and now in Washington where union and company officials are negotiating before the Defense Mediation Board.

As 3,500 night workers left their jobs at 3 o'clock this morning, picket lines were established by the members of the CIO United Auto Workers' Union, aircraft division. Inside the plant maintenance workers remained at their posts.

Only a handful of police officers were outside the plant, but hundreds more were kept in reserve at a nearby station, it was learned.

More than 1,200 machinists belonging to the AFL Aircraft Machinists Union were due to report to work a half hour before the company announced it would not operate today. The machinists, declaring the strike an "outlaw," had announced they would go through the picket lines.

Aided by two sound trucks, the strikers carried banners which defied the Washington negotiations, stating "Negotiations in Washington have Collapsed—Your Power is Here."

Shutdown Surprise

Announcement of the shutdown came as a complete surprise, since Kindelberger had previously announced in Washington that the company would endeavor to keep operating.

More than 12,000 workers are affected by the strike which was called late last night by six members of the union, acting independently of negotiations before the Mediation Board in Washington.

The strike was announced by William P. Goodman, acting chairman of the union committee in the absence of Lew Michener, spokesman, who has been attending the negotiations in Washington.

Goodman charged that the mediation board had joined with the company to delay a CIO closed shop and wage boosts and that "the men were tired of stalling."

Last Saturday the union, after taking a vote, agreed to postpone any walkouts while the case was before the mediation board, but at 10 o'clock last night CIO workers in the plant were notified by Goodman's committee that the strike would be called.

Contracts Important

The North American Company holds contracts to build mostly training planes for the United States and Britain, but it cooperates with other major aircraft plants in the area which are engaged in constructing fighting planes.

The big Douglas bombers usually are brought to North American grounds before hopping off for Canada for a final "going over."

Explaining the sudden decision to call the strike, Goodman charged the Federal Mediation Board had joined with the company to delay wage boosts and a closed CIO shop.

"For almost two months," he said, "negotiations have been going on between the workers' bargaining committee and the management. Today we are as far apart as we were at the beginning of these sessions. . . . North American workers can not stand further delay. They feel their demand for a 75-cents-an-hour minimum wage and a blanket increase of 10 cents an hour can easily be met by the company."

European Bulletins

CAIRO — British authorities charged today that hundreds of Greeks at Athens were court martialled and sentenced to death by Nazi officials after riots broke out between the Greeks and German soldiers at Levadia. The fight began when a freight train loaded with supplies was attacked by the Greeks, who began to unload it. German police intervened, it was stated, and in the ensuing riot many persons including women were said to have been wounded.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica—The German and Italian governments protested jointly to Costa Rica today against the assertedly "illegal" confiscation of the hulls of the Axis steamers Eisenach and Fella, which were scuttled some weeks ago in Puntarenas Harbor.

LISBON, Portugal — Another contingent of fully equipped Portuguese troops was enroute to the Azores Islands today to reinforce the protective garrison there.

MELBOURNE, Australia—Premier R. G. Menzies of Australia today announced that he is maintaining constant contact with London on war moves and that "every possible step is being taken to avoid a repetition of our recent defeats." The Australian premier's statement coincided with the bitter criticism voiced in London over Britain's "military fiasco" at Crete.

CHURCH SCORES NAME'S USE BY ANTI-WAR GROUP

NEW YORK, June 5—The Catholic Church in the United States today lodged a sharp protest with the America First Committee over the distribution of a leaflet purporting to reflect the Catholic hierarchy's position on peace.

In a letter to the pro-isolationist committee, the most Rev. Edward Mooney, archbishop of Detroit, and chairman of the administrative board of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, charged that the leaflet did not reflect the views of the church.

"I am directed by the chairman of the administrative board," the letter said, "to protest the unfair, partisan use of the statement by quoting a few sentences out of their context and to condemn the devious tactics of endeavoring to use the influence of the board in favor of the America First Committee."

COUNCIL ASKS LEVY TO SUPPLY OPERATING FUND

One And One-Half Mills To Be Voted On At August Primary Election

TO RAISE $10,000 YEAR

Question Of More Police Still In Air, Mayor Citing Need

Under suspension of the rules, Council Wednesday night adopted a resolution calling for a 1½ mill levy for three years to be placed by for Circleville voters in the primary election.

It is estimated the levy, if passed will produce about $10,000 a year, or $30,000 over the three year period. City officials believe that the levy will provide the general fund with sufficient revenue for current operating expenses during the next three years.

Adoption of a 1½ mill levy came after proposed budgets of the service department, the safety department and the city auditor were presented. Council was of the opinion that a 1½ mill levy would be more readily accepted by the public than the three-mill levy. Last year, at the city general election, Council submitted a 3-mill operating levy to the voters, the measure failing by a slim margin of getting the necessary votes for passage.

Whether or not council will add additional men to the police department in July to comply with the state law requiring an 8-hour day for policemen, is a subject still discussed in official circles. Failure to add at least two men to the force may mean that the city will go without police protection part of the time, Mayor W. B. Cady has warned council.

JURORS INDICT EIGHT FOR SLOT MACHINE RIOTING

Harvey and Orville (Bud) Miller and Lyman Leist, former residents of Circleville, were indicted Wednesday by the Franklin County grand jury with five other Columbus men under the state riot law for their parts in a slot machine war in Franklin County last January.

They were indicted for smashing slot machines at a North Sandusky Street restaurant.

Maximum penalty under the charge is $500 and 30 days in jail.

Ted Lewis Returns To Film-Making With Major Role in "Oh Charlie"

By Frederick C. Othman
United Press Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, June 5—Ted Lewis, the richest handleader of them all, has resumed movie making under happier circumstances than during his last such effort.

"That was four years ago," Lewis reported. "I was playing in 'Strike Up the Band' and the director came over to me—me, mind you—and tried to tell me how to say: 'Is Everybody Happy?'"

Lewis, who's been leading his hand in the same battered plug hat for 30 years, is working now at Universal Studios in the Abbott and Costello movie, "Oh Charlie." This was the one Director Arthur Lubin finished a couple of months ago. It was ready to go when returns from a previous picture by the same crew, "Buck Privates," mounted like those from "Gone With the Wind."

The studio appropriated another $150,000 for Lubin to spend on added scenes in "Oh Charlie." Most of the money has gone to Lewis and the 30 members of his company who will be on the job for the next two weeks. While the boys rehearsed, Lewis doffed his high hat (which is lined with lead so it won't fall off his dome) and told us the cockeyed story of his life.

Seems like his folks were the Marshall Fields of Circleville, O. All Lewis' brothers went to college and became upstanding citizens.

"But I hated to go to bed at night," Lewis said, "and I hated to get up in the morning. I ran away from home when I was 16 and became a clarinet player for the hoochie-koochie dancers in a carnival. I was a disgrace to my family."

The years passed, with Lewis playing in burlesque and honky-tonks and worse, getting stranded in Canada, living on peanuts because he could get a big sackful for a nickel, and wondering if ever he could prove to his family that he was not a deep-eyed bum. In 1916 Lewis' jazz band was playing at Coney Island.

The next year he was at Rec-tor's Restaurant in New York, perhaps the finest eating establishment this country ever had.

"It was a lucky break," he said, "and we had to be on our good behavior. I couldn't ask the customers for applause, like I'd been doing at Coney Island. I had to be more discreet. So one night I just happened to ask: 'Is Everybody Happy?'"

This phrase became perhaps the best known trademark in show business. It helped earn Lewis one of the theatrical world's most comfortable fortunes.

After Rec-tor's, Lewis' star began to rise. Year after year he and his evergrowing company toured the nation. Vaudeville was dead, but not for Ted Lewis. In many a town the theatres were opened especially for his appearance.

The money rolled in. Lewis' parents decided maybe he wasn't such a complete bum. They even forgave him and the hoochie-koochie episode. Lewis bought himself a home at Circleville, which he visits once a year, when he's playing Columbus. He bought the store building his father used to operate and he gave the city the Ted Lewis Playground.

"I guess I'm the first citizen of Circleville, all right," Lewis said, "and I am frank to say I am proud of it. I proved to my father that sometimes a boy who hates to get up in the morning isn't altogether worthless."

80 PERCENT OF DRAFTEES MISS 1-A DIVISION

Most Go Into 3-A Because Of Dependents, Local Board Reveals

209 MEN AWAIT CALL

Eleven Students May Find Ranking Changed As Classes End

More than eighty percent of the men registering with the Pickaway County Selective Service office have gone into classes other than 1-A, a report released Thursday by the local board revealed.

The report showed that out of every hundred men registered with the local board, all but 15 were deferred for some reason.

Largest percentage of those deferred have been placed in Class 3-A, because of dependency. Of a total of 2,801 registrants, 1,807, or 64½ percent, have gone into the 3-A classification.

The county's quick call list now number 209 men, definitely placed in 1-A and ready for induction. Men held for limited military service because of minor physical defects number 112. Class 1-C, including volunteers inducted and regular army men, lists 122 men. Eleven students have been placed in Class 1-D, but their classification will be changed as soon as they are out of school.

Occupational deferment has put 25 registrants in class 2-A and three years' military service has placed seven in 4-A. One registrant has been deferred by law because of his public duties. Sixteen ministers in the county have been placed in 4-D and 146 men in 4-F by mental, physical or moral reasons.

Complete classifications have been listed for 2,456 men registered with the local board. Fifteen are not yet classified and 330 are tentatively placed in Class 1-A pending physical examinations.

COUNTY GRANTS $473 IN SHEEP DAMAGE CLAIMS

Sheep claims totaling $473 were allotted to Pickaway County farmers Wednesday by county commissioners. Claims, which were unusually high, ran from $182 to $7. Two claims were not granted by the commissioners because neither they nor the county dog warden was notified within 48 hours after the sheep were killed.

In order that the claims be accepted, either the commissioners or the dog warden must be called within 48 hours.

Claims were as follows: Jacob Reid, Saltcreek Township, $8; John H. Dunlap, Monroe Township, $18; H. E. Leist, Washington Township, $45; Jesse Snyder, Monroe Township, $20; Kenneth L. Shell, Monroe Township, $18; John L. Dunlap, Monroe Township, $18; W. W. Hoover, Jackson Township, $15; D. A. MRS. CORA S. ROSENHEIM DIES IN BUFFALO, N. Y.

Mrs. Sophia Sawyer of East Ohio Street has received word of the death in Buffalo, N. Y., of her daughter, Mrs. Cora Sawyer Rosenheim. Her home was at 321 McKinley Parkway, Buffalo.

Mrs. Rosenheim's death occurred at 9:45 a. m., Tuesday June 3. Her brother, Dr. Theodore D. Sawyer of Crestline, was with her at the time of death.

Five sisters and three brothers survive, in addition to the mother. Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 9:30 a. m. in Buffalo.

ROBY APPROVED
City Council Wednesday night confirmed the appointment of Ralph Roby, East Mill Street, as janitor of Memorial Hall, by the Monumental Association Board of Trustees.

Building Used By Phone Firm Recalled As Home

By Lyall Cryder

When the old residence now housing the Citizens' Telephone Company office is razed to make way for the new and modern plant of the organization to most people of Circleville it will be a mark of progress toward a better and more beautiful city, but to one it will be the destruction of an old home of many happy memories, but still one remembered as a "woman killer."

For Mrs. E. F. Lilly of East Union Street called it just that as she mentioned that she was probably one of the oldest persons living in the community who had once called it home.

Coming at the age of nine as Ada Vernon from Muskingum County with her father, Dr. L. C. Vernon, and others of the family, her home was established in the old residence in 1865.

"We used the entire house for the family," said Mrs. Lilly, "as father had his offices above the Grand-Girard Drug Store on West Main Street, the brother of the present owner having the store at that time."

Mrs. Lilly spoke of the large rooms and of the basement under the entire house.

She recalled a well in the center of this basement where cool drinking water was available even in the hottest of summer weather, a valued treat in those days before the plentiful ice-cubes of our mechanical refrigerators.

"All the cooking was done in this basement during the summer and the food carried to the first floor for the family meals," continued Mrs. Lilly. "Mother always had a good stout girl," she said, "one who was used to hard work, for no one else could stand the labor for caring for such a large place."

The Vernon family lived in the old house for five or six years, the Sewel Nightengale family taking possession when they moved to another location. The Nightengales were forebears of Miss Florence Dunton and Mrs. James Adams, the only descendants of the family in Circleville. Others who lived in the old residence were the Judge Charles Dresbach family and the Lyman Hoffman family.

Later the upper floor was let as an apartment before the expansion of the telephone company required its entire use.

NEED FOR FARM LABOR STRESSED TO DRAFT UNITS

COLUMBUS, June 5 — Local draft boards were called on by Lt. Col. Chester W. Goble, state director of the selective service, to give serious consideration to requests of farm workers for occupational deferment under the peacetime draft.

Colonel Goble, pointed out there is an acute shortage of farm labor in Ohio, made his request after receiving a letter from Brig. Gen. L. B. Hershey, assistant director of the selective service at Washington. General Hershey said Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard had pointed out that a general shortage of farm labor has existed in the state for some time.

The most acute shortages of farm labor in the state are said to exist in dairy and truck farm areas. Secretary Wickard, according to General Hershey's letter, asserted that "the national defense program has drawn heavily upon the supply of farm labor and maintaining an adequate supply of farm workers for the production of essential foods required for national defense is becoming a serious problem."

SEES NO FOOD RATIONING
ST. LOUIS—Any fear of food rationing in the United States is unjustified, according to Miss Harriet Elliott, Consumer Commissioner of the National Defense Commission, who appeared recently before the Associated Retailers of St. Louis. Miss Elliott told the retailers that consumers have it within their power to prevent the unlikely possibility of food shortages or severe price rises by making purchases on a daily-need basis rather than by rushing to lay up stores for the future.

BANKER SPEAKS; LOCAL MAN GIVEN COMMITTEE JOB

CINCINNATI, June 5—Ohio bankers were urged today by J. D. St. John, of Toledo, to give "enthusiastic support" to financing the defense program through sale of government securities to the public.

St. John, president of the Ohio Bankers Association, spoke to 900 delegates to the 51st annual convention in Cincinnati.

"Without the heavier taxation that is a necessary counterpart to this defense effort, the sale of government securities to the public rather than to financial institutions," said St. John, "we would face grave dangers of inflation."

Dr. Russell Weisman, professor of economic at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, also spoke and asserted that bankers, "widely regarded as leaders in their communities," should "do everything in their power to educate public opinion to the realities of a defense economy."

Officers elected by Ohio members of the American Bankers Association included:
St. John, executive councilman; Clark Will, Circleville, alternate nominating committeeman, and these division vice presidents: K. B. Ledman, Portsmouth, national banks; C. D. Houser, Fostoria, savings banks; A. F. Reed, Warren, state banks; William E. Anderson, Cincinnati, trusts.

Tommy Farr, the English fighter, recently was robbed of $13,500 worth of prizes and jewelry during a London blackout.

SLAYER'S FRIEND ORDERED TO PEN AS ACCOMPLICE

COLUMBUS, June 5—Mrs. Adelaide Hampton, 26-year-old divorcee, today faced a sentence of 10 to 25 years in the Marysville Women's Reformatory. She was found guilty by a Franklin County Common Pleas court jury of aiding Wayne Thompson, 24-year-old convicted killer, in the robbery of a Kroger store April 22.

At the opening of her trial, Mrs. Hampton entered a plea of guilty but the court refused to accept the plea. On the witness stand, Mrs. Hampton admitted keeping the motor of Thompson's automobile running while he went into the store but denied knowledge of Thompson's intent to hold up the store.

The jury returned the verdict of guilty after deliberating 15 minutes.

Thompson last week was convicted of first degree murder in the killing of Carl Hoover, manager of another Kroger store, previous to the one in which Mrs. Hampton was charged with participation. He faces death in the electric chair.

80 PERCENT OF DRAFTEES MISS 1-A DIVISION

Most Go Into 3-A Because Of Dependents, Local Board Reveals

209 MEN AWAIT CALL

Eleven Students May Find Ranking Changed As Classes End

More than eighty percent of the men registering with the Pickaway County Selective Service office have gone into classes other than 1-A, a report released Thursday by the local board revealed.

The report showed that out of every hundred men registered with the local board, all but 15 were deferred for some reason.

Largest percentage of those deferred have been placed in Class 3-A, because of dependency. Of a total of 2,801 registrants, 1,807, or 64 1/2 percent, have gone into the 3-A classification.

The county's quick call list now number 209 men, definitely placed in 1-A and ready for induction. Men held for limited military service because of minor physical defects number 112. Class 1-C, including volunteers inducted and regular army men, lists 122 men. Eleven students have been placed in Class 1-D, but their classification will be changed as soon as they are out of school.

Occupational deferment has put 25 registrants in class 2-A and three years' military service has placed seven in 4-A. One registrant has been deferred by law because of his public duties. Sixteen ministers in the county have been placed in 4-D and 146 men in 4-F by mental, physical or moral reasons.

Complete classifications have been listed for 2,456 men registered with the local board. Fifteen are not yet classified and 330 are tentatively placed in Class 1-A pending physical examinations.

COUNTY GRANTS $473 IN SHEEP DAMAGE CLAIMS

Sheep claims totaling $473 were allotted to Pickaway County farmers Wednesday by county commissioners. Claims, which were unusually high, ran from $182 to $7. Two claims were not granted by the commissioners because neither the county dog warden was notified within 48 hours after the sheep were killed.

In order that the claims be accepted, either the commissioners or the dog warden must be called within 48 hours.

Claims were as follows: Jacob Reid, Saltcreek Township, $8; John H. Dunlap, Monroe Township, $18; H. E. Leist, Washington Township, $45; Jesse Snyder, Monroe Township, $20; Kenneth L. Shell, Monroe Township, $18; John L. Dunlap, Monroe Township, $18; W. W. Hoover, Jackson Township, $15; D. A. WASHINGTON MAIL

CRITICAL times can be gauged by the people's letters to Washington. The president's mail lately is said to have been breaking all records, and cabinet members report a similar deluge.

Obviously the President need have no difficulty in finding out what the people are thinking. It may be assumed that his recent "Fireside Chat", perhaps the most comprehensive of all his radio addresses, was based largely on such correspondence and represented the dominant attitude of the people toward important public policies.

Congressmen, too, have been hearing from their constituents more freely than usual. And it is interesting to learn that such communications have been showing a striking shift toward more aid for Britain and China.

There has been, and is now, a great crisis in civilization throughout the world, especially in Europe and America. Civilization is a delicate plant, easily damaged. Several times in human history it has been destroyed and had to start over again, after an interval of barbarism and poverty. It is reassuring that our people are so keenly alive to the need of a safe and decent world and that they do not hesitate to tell their governmental representatives what they are thinking.

FRENCH MOTHERS

ALMOST unnoticed in the hurly-burly of events was the celebration of the first Mother's Day in France. This is part of Marshal Petain's plan for national renovation, and might almost be called a historic event. French women have always been influential, but mainly in the sphere of domestic rather than national life.

"Mothers of our dead," said this veteran soldier-statesman, "mothers of our prisoners, mothers of our cities, who would gladly give your lives to save our children from hunger, and mothers of our country homes, mothers alone on the farms, I voice to you today the gratitude of all France."

It was a noble tribute, worthy of the theme. The men of France, sad to say, seem to have grown decadent. It may be that the salvation of France now depends mainly on its women, not merely in their homes, as the Marshal suggests, but also in public life. If France could equal America in this sphere, France might revive again.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

ON A "FULL emergency" Washington doesn't look or feel so very different from the way it did before President Roosevelt issued his proclamation and broadcast its accompanying fireside chat. The preceding "partial emergency" declaration probably served considerably to cushion the full one's shock. That is to say, partially "inducted" as I quote a Selective Service term) into the full, or total article by endurable degrees.

I presume the situation's more or less the same the country over, but presidential proclamations' repercussions, if any, are first and especially noticeable in the capital, because plenty of national and international notabilities are so immediately available to do the commenting.

Of course the full emergency creates a tenser atmosphere than the partial kind did. On the partial basis everybody was asking, "Will we get into the war?" Now they're asking "WHEN will we get in?" This undoubtedly will grow more and more so.

War interventionists already are encouraged and ebullient, and isolationists are worse alarmed. Their rival clamors are bound to increase in volume and vehemence. As yet, though, neither side has developed a full head of steam. The president wasn't quite as bellicose as the interventionists had hoped he would be, nor quite as bellicose as the isolationists had been afraid of. He was more bellicose than the isolationists thought he ought to have been, however. If anything, isolationistic criticism is a more solid unit than the interventionists. I'm not contending that they're more nearly right, but they're more cohesive.

DISAGREED ON ONE POINT

They do disagree on one point. Some say we should try to mediate before the warring powers. Some say we should remain wholly aloof from the entire rumput. But both groups concur that we shouldn't, under any circumstances, permit ourselves to become involved in the fighting.

The opposite faction (extremists at least) were exceedingly anxious to have the president, in his fireside chat, to get tough. Well, he did, indeed, sound a warning to the Axis outfit, as to what we'll do if they do so-and-so. Yet a warning wasn't all the ultra-interventionists had been yearning for. Their motion was that the totalitarianism needed an out-and-out oratorical kick in the pants. There are isolationists who think that's what F. D. actually delivered, but there are those who maintain that it wasn't fully pungent enough.

"Get tough?" Tough with whom? Tough with Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini and perhaps with Commissar Stalin and possibly with Japan, wouldn't you suppose?

Harry F. Byrd made a speech on the subject in the senate a few days before the fireside chat was broadcast. "Get tough!" was Harry's speech motto. Listening to that speech, until away down almost to the last paragraph, the impression hearers naturally absorbed was to the purport that

PRINCESS HOHENLOHE

WASHINGTON—Inside reason for the release of Princess Stefanie Hohenlohe, red-haired friend of high Nazi officials, is that she paid for her freedom with some amazing revelations about subversive operations in this country and Britain.

One thing she told Immigration authorities was that Captain Fritz Wiedemann, Hitler's World War Commander who has been serving as German consul general in San Francisco, is in bad with the Berlin rulers and may be recalled.

His fall from grace, according to the Princess' tale, was due to his intimacy with Rudolf Hess, No. 3 Nazi, who startled the world by his flight to England. Berlin considers Wiedemann a Hess henchman, the Princess claimed, and he has been on the "blacklist" for some time.

The Princess also gave Immigration officials a list of Nazi "sympathizers" in Britain who, she said, have been secretly trying to effect a negotiated peace with Hitler. Several of those named were associated with the late Lord Rothermere, himself high on the list. This information has been turned over to the State Department for transmission to the British.

Wiedemann is not the only Nazi agent in the United States who has been placed on the spot by the Hess flight. Princess Stefanie named others, both in diplomatic and undercover fifth column ranks.

Though the Princess has been released from the San Francisco detention station, a deportation warrant still stands. She is being kept under surveillance at her fashionable Palo Alto, Calif., apartment until she can be shipped out of the country.

CANDIDATE LINDBERGH

When Charles Lindbergh told his America First audience in Philadelphia that the U. S. should "turn to a new leadership," he wasn't indulging in mere rhetoric. Secretly, friends say, he had something very concrete in mind.

The ex-Colonel is planning to go into politics for the purpose of running for President in 1944.

His current nationwide barnstorming is largely to build himself up politically in preparation for a presidential drive. To this end, he is weighing the possibility of running against Senator Joseph H. Ball, young Minnesota Republican, a strong advocate of all-out aid to Britain.

A former newspaperman appointed by Governor Stassen to fill a vacancy, Ball comes up for election next year. He is one of the very few Midwest GOP senators supporting the President's foreign policy, and Lindbergh's political advisers think the flier would have a good chance to lick Ball.

No decision has been made, and Lindbergh may even deny he has such intentions. But it can be stated definitely that the matter has been seriously discussed in the inner Lindbergh circle and that he expressed willingness to go after Ball's seat if the situation looks propitious next year.

DIET AND HEALTH

Ice Cream Not Harmful to Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

● I can remember the time when ice cream was strictly a summer dish. The first plate of ice cream I ever had was purchased in Wheeling, West Virginia. My father bought it for me and had a plate himself. This was an extremely hazardous proceeding in those days because my grandfather, who was a doctor and had a gray beard, had pronounced that ice cream was dangerous. According to him, it cooled the stomach to an unusual extreme and drew the blood from places where the blood was more needed than in the stomach.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Difference of Opinion

This difference of opinion about the effect of ice cream between my father, who didn't think there was any place in the body that needed blood any more than the stomach, and my grandfather who represented established opinion, was for long the fate of the triumphal progress of the popularity of ice cream, which rode over all its critics and has now established itself as an article of diet which has no seasonal favoritism.

I have for a long time heard that Dolly Madison introduced ice cream to the United States but until this moment had no factual confirmation of this. I find, however, an excerpt from a contemporary journal which describes the inauguration of President Madison as follows:

A Real Treat

"Mrs. Madison always entertained with grace and charm, but last night there was a sparkle in her eye that set aside an air of expectancy in her guests. . . . When finally the brilliant assemblage, America's best, entered the dining room, they beheld . . . in the center, high on a silver platter, a large, shining dome of pink ice cream."

Today, whether plain, ungar-nished in a dish, or in cones, pies, sandwiches or sticks, floating in syrup or engulfed in carbonated water, molded into bricks, imitations of Christmas trees, Easter rabbits or Fourth of July sky-rockets, the American people consume two hundred seventy-five million gallons of ice cream per annum. Even the English and the Continentals have lost their contempt for this American dish.

It is hardly necessary to say now that ice cream is not harmful, since eight billion, five hundred million portions of it have been consumed by Americans this year and they are the healthiest large nation on the face of the earth. It contains four per cent protein, twelve per cent fat, and twenty-one per cent carbohydrate. It is an excellent source of calcium and phosphorus and contains Vitamins A and G.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. C. W.: "About the banana-milk diet. How many bananas should one have in a day and how long should one keep this diet up to lose twenty pounds?"

Answer: The milk and banana diet as prescribed by Dr. Harrop can be used after one of several plans: (1) the combination may be used for one or two meals with moderate restriction of the third; (2) it may be taken as the entire diet for ten to fourteen days and then exchanged for a more varied diet for a similar period in which the weight loss is maintained but not increased. One or two large bananas may be used with one glass of milk for both breakfast and lunch. For the evening meal, clear soup, a slice of lean meat, two or three portions of vegetables, a slice of bread and butter, and a portion of uncooked fruit.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 19 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Relief from Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Venereal Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

DEATH AT THE SWITCH

RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

SYNOPSIS

Henry Potter seeks shelter from a rainstorm at long-closed Wildwood lodge, in whose big basement a model railroad club is operating its elaborate train system. A few minutes later John Ives, member of the club, is found shot to death in the train dispatcher's tiny room. The next day, accompanied by a stranger named John Jones, whom Henry suspects is a policeman assigned to the job of shadowing him, Henry goes to Ives house and learns that the dead man left a letter foretelling his own death. Mrs. Willett, Ives' house-keeper, suggests that they call another meeting of the model railroad club. She says Ives will come back from death to point out his murderer. John Jones arranges for board and room at the Potter home. Henry, beginning to wonder if Jones really is a detective, follows him to the undertaking parlor and is greeted at the door by one of the model railroaders, Louis Spinelli.

CHAPTER TWELVE

"DON'T LOOK SO startled," Spinelli said with a smile. "I work here."

"You—work here?" "That is, I look after the place when Mr. Smidkins is away."

"Isn't he here now?" "He's in the coffin shop talking with a man named John Jones. If you want to speak to him you can go right in."

Henry shuddered. "Not there! I'll wait, if you don't mind."

Spinelli showed him into the front office, comfortable with deep rugs and soft cushioned chairs. Henry sat down gingerly, because in spite of his umbrella he was wet. Spinelli half sat on the edge of the glass topped, polished desk.

"This isn't exactly the place I would expect to find a model railroad myself," Spinelli admitted. "The work assists my limited budget, however. Someone has to be on duty at all hours to answer the telephone or drive the ambulance in an emergency. The salary is my rent for the apartment upstairs. It's really a delightful place. I'd invite you up, but I suppose you want to speak to Mr. Smidkins as soon as he's through."

"It's John Jones I want to speak to. What do you think of him?"

Spinelli's eyes widened slightly. "I merely spoke to him. I formed no opinion. I was interested when he said he was here about Ives' funeral arrangements. I suppose he is a member of the family."

"I don't know. It hadn't occurred to me."

"Poor Ives! He wasn't very popular, but that was such a horrible way to die!" The undertaker's assistant offered a perfumed cigarette in an imitation gold case.

Henry shook his head. "Thanks. I don't use them," he lied. "I don't know Ives was unpopular. I heard he gave away most of his money. He used to be rich, but he died poor."

Spinelli walked to the venetian blinds, parted them with his fingers and looked out into the rain. "Strange fellow. He hated everyone. He had a queer idea he owed everyone money. When you owe a person money you get to hate him," Spinelli turned. His eyes burned darkly, as though some secret hatred was revealed for a moment in the depths of his own soul.

"This fellow Jones," said Henry, changing the subject quickly, "he's never mentioned being related to Ives."

Spinelli came back to the desk and crushed out his half burned cigarette in the bronze ash tray. "Why else would he be interested in the funeral? Wait here. I'll go back and tell him you want to see him."

The undertaker's assistant stalked down the hallway toward the rear like a figure melting into the shadows of a dream, his feet silent on the carpeted floor. There was no sound of any kind in the building. Walls were deadened to silent sobbing and weeping that must be part of the daily atmosphere in such a place. To Henry the quiet only added to the sense of depression.

Spinelli returned after five minutes, accompanied by a mousey little man, Mr. Smidkins.

"So sorry!" breathed Mr. Smidkins, rubbing his hands. "Your friend must have forgotten he was to meet you here. He left by the back way."

Henry jumped to his feet. "I'll catch him in the street! He hasn't a car."

"Oh, by now he must be blocks away. I'm afraid you've lost him. But you'll see him at the funeral." The little clerk hesitated. He knew Smidkins was right. Mr. Jones intended to give him the slip, and Henry wouldn't catch up with him now until Jones intended he should.

"Is he a relative of Ives?" Henry asked.

Smidkins shook his head. "No. His business with me was purely professional."

"Then he is a detective!" Henry declared. Spinelli nodded. "I think you're right. He had an official air about him."

Smidkins was smiling. "Sorry, Mr. Jones said the nature of his profession is to be kept secret for a time."

Smidkins' grin irritated Henry. "I won't learn anything here!" the little clerk snapped. He stepped out on the front porch and opened his umbrella so violently he almost broke it. "I'll see you tonight, Spi-nelli, at the model railroad club!"

"Spinelli drew a sharp breath. "Surely we're not going to . . . Henry was fighting the rain and wind again. He ran to the corner and looked down the side street. Jones was not in sight."

He slowed his pace to a walk, but continued determinedly on to survey the rest of the town. Gradually his anger wore off. Resignation and disgust took its place. "I don't know who Jones is—but I know who I am!" he told himself. "I'm not a detective!"

He turned homeward. It was late afternoon by now. He'd need a bath and a change into dry clothes before he went to Wildwood lodge. No sense in catching cold.

The road home was deep in mud. His shoes were a mess, even over the tops of his rubbers. On his doorstep, sheltered by the porch roof, he removed shoes and rubbers together. His socks were soaked, too, so he took them off, and walked inside in his bare feet. To himself he muttered, "I won't give Martha a chance to complain about my dirtying her floors."

"Hallo there!" exclaimed a deep masculine voice.

Henry, socks and shoes in hand, looked up in dismay. John Jones, lighting a long cigar, was staring at him from the armchair in the living room.

"Oh!" said Henry. He jerked the shoes and socks behind him. "I—don't—usually come in this way!"

"I hope my presence in the household won't cramp your style," said Mr. Jones as though Henry's actions were the most natural in the world. "Sorry I missed you downtown. Met one of the members of the model railroad club—and—" "I met two of them," interrupted Henry. He was growing angry now, having recovered his poise by hiding his feet behind a chair. "Mr. Jones, they don't like the idea of the meeting tonight!"

The gray eyes shot up. "They will be going at the order of the police. It won't be as though they were disrespectful to Mr. Ives, or anything like that."

"We ought to call it off! What authority have you? Who are you . . ."

"My dear Mr. Potter! It was your idea."

"It was not!"

"Well, no matter. It's in the hands of the police now."

"But one of those who will be there tonight is a murderer! Suppose he tries another killing?"

Mr. Jones removed his cigar and looked at it thoughtfully. "That," he said, "is what the police hope he'll do."

WASHINGTON MAIL

CRITICAL times can be gauged by the people's letters to Washington. The president's mail lately is said to have been breaking all records, and cabinet members report a similar deluge.

Obviously the President need have no difficulty in finding out what the people are thinking. It may be assumed that his recent "Fireside Chat", perhaps the most comprehensive of all his radio addresses, was based largely on such correspondence and represented the dominant attitude of the people toward important public policies.

Congressmen, too, have been hearing from their constituents more freely than usual. And it is interesting to learn that such communications have been showing a striking shift toward more aid for Britain and China.

There has been, and is now, a great crisis in civilization throughout the world, especially in Europe and America. Civilization is a delicate plant, easily damaged. Several times in human history it has been destroyed and had to start over again, after an interval of barbarism and poverty. It is reassuring that our people are so keenly alive to the need of a safe and decent world and that they do not hesitate to tell their governmental representatives what they are thinking.

FRENCH MOTHERS

ALMOST unnoticed in the hurly-burly of events was the celebration of the first Mother's Day in France. This is part of Marshal Petain's plan for national renovation, and might almost be called a historic event. French women have always been influential, but mainly in the sphere of domestic rather than national life.

"Mothers of our dead," said this veteran soldier-statesman, "mothers of our prisoners, mothers of our cities, who would gladly give your lives to save our children from hunger, and mothers of our country homes, mothers alone on the farms, I voice to you today the gratitude of all France."

It was a noble tribute, worthy of the theme. The men of France, sad to say, seem to have grown decadent. It may be that the salvation of France now depends mainly on its women, not merely in their homes, as the Marshal suggests, but also in public life. If France could equal America in this sphere, France might revive again.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—

Charles P. Stewart

ON A "FULL" emergency Washington doesn't look or feel so very different from the way it did before President Roosevelt issued his proclamation and broadcast its accompanying fireside chat. The preceding "partial emergency" declaration probably served considerably to cushion the full one's shock. That is to say, partially "inducted" us I quote a Selective Service term into the full, or total article by endurable degrees.

I presume the situation's more or less the same the country over, but presidential proclamations' repercussions, if any, are first and especially noticeable in the capital, because plenty of national and international notabilities are so immediately available to do the commenting.

Of course the full emergency creates a tenser atmosphere than the partial kind did. On the partial basis everybody was asking, "Will we get into the war?" Now they're asking "WHEN will we get in?" This undoubtedly will grow more and more so.

War interventionists already are encouraged and ebullient, and isolationists are worse alarmed. Their rival clamors are bound to increase in volume and vehemence. As yet, though, neither side has developed a full head of steam. The president wasn't quite as bellicose as the interventionists had hoped he would be, nor quite as bellicose as the isolationists had been afraid of. He was more bellicose than the isolationists thought he ought to have been, however.

If anything, isolationistic critics are a more solid unit than the interventionists. I'm not contending that they're more nearly right, but they're more cohesive.

DISAGREED ON ONE POINT

They do disagree on one point. Some say we should try to mediate before the warring powers. Some say we should remain wholly aloof from the entire rumpus. But both groups concur that we shouldn't, under any circumstances, permit ourselves to become involved in the fighting.

The opposite faction (extremists at least) were exceedingly anxious to have the president, in his fireside chat, to get tough. Well, he did, indeed, sound a warning to the Axis outfit, as to what we'll do if they do so-and-so. Yet a warning wasn't all the ultra-interventionists had been yearning for. Their notion was that the fatalists needed an out-and-out oratorical kick in the pants. There are isolationists who think that's what F. D. actually delivered, but there are those who maintain that it wasn't fully pungent enough.

"Get tough?" Tough with whom? Tough with Herr Hitler and Signor Mussolini and perhaps with Commissar Stalin and possibly with Japan, wouldn't you suppose?

Harry F. Byrd made a speech on the subject in the senate a few days before the fireside chat was broadcast. "Get tough!" was Harry's speech motto. Listening almost to the last paragraph, the impression hearers naturally absorbed was to the purport that the Virginia solon was calling for the toughening toward Hitler, Mussolini & Co.

And unquestionably he did, and does, favor tough treatment of the Axis firm.

But at the very tail end of his remarks, the senator revealed that the toughness he particularly was advocating was toughness toward American labor. As we know, it's done a bit of striking, which evidence has made Harry Byrd desperately sore.

The president, in his chat, made an appeal to labor all right—as to all Americans. He didn't take a tough attitude though.

ONE LABOR THEORY

Lots of enthusiastic interventionists in Washington believe that he'd have made a bad mistake if he had. Their theory is that loyalty to American labor may have an occasional legitimate grievance, which it's perfectly proper and necessary to adjust pacifically—not by walk-outs and tie-ups. But they don't think it should be assumed, offhand, in the case of every dispute between employers and workers, that the latter should be toughly dealt with, as Communists, Nazis, Fascists, fellow travelers, saboteurs and miscellaneous racketeers.

There may be an instance, now and then, in which the employer's the bird to get tough with.

Anyway, our present national full emergency hasn't had time enough yet completely to sink in. On account of that previously partial emergency, we're assimilating it gradually.

PRINCESS HOHENLOHE

WASHINGTON—Inside reason for the release of Princess Stefanie Hohenlohe, red-haired friend of high Nazi officials, is that she paid for her freedom with some amazing revelations about subversive operations in this country and Britain.

One thing she told Immigration authorities was that Captain Fritz Wiedemann, Hitler's World War Commander who has been serving as German consul general in San Francisco, is in bad with the Berlin rulers and may be recalled.

His fall from grace, according to the Princess' tale, was due to his intimacy with Rudolf Hess, No. 3 Nazi, who startled the world by his flight to England. Berlin considers Wiedemann a Hess henchman, the Princess claimed, and he has been on the "blacklist" for some time.

The Princess also gave Immigration officials a list of Nazi "sympathizers" in Britain who, she said, have been secretly trying to effect a negotiated peace with Hitler. Several of those named were associated with the late Lord Rothermere, himself high on the list. This information has been turned over to the State Department for transmission to the British.

Wiedemann is not the only Nazi agent in the United States who has been placed on the spot by the Hess flight. Princess Stefanie named others, both in diplomatic and undercover fifth column ranks.

Though the Princess has been released from the San Francisco detention station, a deportation warrant still stands. She is being kept under surveillance at her fashionable Palo Alto, Calif., apartment until she can be shipped out of the country.

CANDIDATE LINDBERGH

When Charles Lindbergh told his America First audience in Philadelphia that the U. S. should "turn to a new leadership," he wasn't indulging in mere rhetoric. Secretly, friends say, he had something very concrete in mind.

The ex-Colonel is planning to go into politics for the purpose of running for President in 1944.

His current nationwide barnstorming is largely to build himself up politically in preparation for a presidential drive. To this end, he is weighing the possibility of running against Senator Joseph H. Ball, young Minnesota Republican, a strong advocate of all-out aid to Britain.

A former newspaperman appointed by Governor Stassen to fill a vacancy, Ball comes up for election next year. He is one of the very few Midwest GOP senators supporting the President's foreign policy, and Lindbergh's political advisers think the flier would have a good chance to lick Ball.

No decision has been made, and Lindbergh may even deny he has such intentions. But it can be stated definitely that the matter has been seriously discussed in the inner Lindbergh circle and that he expressed willingness to go after Ball's seat if the situation looks propitious next year.

DIET AND HEALTH

Ice Cream Not Harmful to Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

I can remember the time when ice cream was strictly a summer dish. The first plate of ice cream I ever had was purchased in Wheeling, West Virginia. My father bought it for me and had a plate himself. This was an extremely hazardous proceeding in those days because my grandfather, who was a doctor and had a gray beard, had pronounced that ice cream was dangerous. According to him, it cooled the stomach to an unusual extreme and drew the blood from places where the blood was more needed than in the stomach.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Difference of Opinion

This difference of opinion about the effect of ice cream between my father, who didn't think there was any place in the body that needed blood more than the stomach, and my grandfather, who represented established opinion, was for long the fate of the triumphal progress of the popularity of ice cream, which rode over all its critics and has now established itself as an article of diet which has no seasonal favoritism.

I have for a long time heard that Dolly Madison introduced ice cream to the United States but until this moment had no factual confirmation of this. I find, however, an excerpt from a contemporary journal which describes the inauguration of President Madison as follows:

A Real Treat

"Mrs. Madison always entertained with grace and charm, but last night there was a sparkle in her eye that set aside an air of expectancy in her guests. . . . When finally the brilliant assemblage, America's best, entered the dining room, they beheld . . . in the center, high on a silver platter, a large, shining dome of pink ice cream."

Today, whether plain, ungarn-

nished in a dish, or in cones, pies, sandwiches or sticks, floating in syrup or engulfed in carbonated water, molded into bricks, imitations of Christmas trees, Easter rabbits or Fourth of July sky-rockets, the American people consume two hundred seventy-five million gallons of ice cream per annum. Even the English and the Continentals have lost their contempt for this American dish.

It is hardly necessary to say now that ice cream is not harmful, since eight billion, five hundred million portions of it have been consumed by Americans this year and they are the healthiest large nation on the face of the earth. It contains four per cent protein, twelve per cent fat, and twenty-one per cent carbohydrate. It is an excellent source of calcium and phosphorus and contains Vitamins A and G.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. C. W.: "About the banana-milk diet. How many bananas should one have in a day and how long should one keep this diet up to lose twenty pounds?"

Answer—The milk and banana diet as prescribed by Dr. Harrop can be used after one of several plans: (1) the combination may be used for one or two meals with moderate restriction of the third; (2) it may be taken as the entire diet for ten to fourteen days and then exchanged for a more varied diet for a similar period in which the weight loss is maintained but not increased. One or two large bananas may be used with one glass of milk for both breakfast and lunch. For the evening meal, clear soup, a slice of lean meat, two or three portions of vegetables, a portion of uncooked fruit.

SYNOPSIS

Henry Potter seeks shelter from a rainstorm at long-closed Wildwood lodge, in whose big basement a model railroad club is operating its elaborate train system. A few minutes later John Ives, member of the club, is found shot to death in the train dispatcher's tiny room. The next day, accompanied by a stranger named John Jones, whom Henry suspects is a policeman assigned to the job of shadowing him, Henry goes to Ives house and learns that the dead man left a letter foretelling his own death. Mrs. Willett, Ives' housekeeper, suggests that they call another meeting of the model railroad club. She says Ives will come back from death to point out his murderer. John Jones arranges for board and room at the Potter home. Henry, beginning to wonder if Jones really is a detective, follows him to the undertaking parlor and is greeted at the door by one of the model railroaders, Louis Spinelli.

CHAPTER TWELVE

"DON'T LOOK so startled," Spinelli said with a smile. "I work here."

"You—work here?"
"That is, I look after the place when Mr. Smidkins is away."

"Isn't he here now?"
"He's in the coffin shop talking with a man named John Jones. If you want to speak to him you can go right in."

Henry shuddered. "Not there! I'll wait, if you don't mind."
Spinelli showed him into the front office, comfortable with deep rugs and soft cushioned chairs. Henry sat down gingerly, because in spite of his umbrella he was wet. Spinelli half sat on the edge of the glass topped, polished desk.

"This isn't exactly the place I would expect to find a model railroad myself," Spinelli admitted. "The work assists my limited budget, however. Someone has to be on duty at all hours to answer the telephone or drive the ambulance in an emergency. The salary is my rent for the apartment upstairs. It's really a delightful place. I'd invite you up, but I suppose you want to speak to Mr. Smidkins as soon as he's through?"

"It's John Jones I want to speak to. What do you think of him?"

Spinelli's eyes widened slightly. "I merely spoke to him. I formed no opinion. I was interested when he said he was here about Ives' funeral arrangements. I suppose he is a member of the family."

"I don't know. It hadn't occurred to me."

"Poor Ives! He wasn't very popular, but that was such a horrible way to die! The undertaker's assistant offered a perfumed cigarette in an imitation gold case."

Henry shook his head. "Thanks. I don't use them," he lied. "I didn't know Ives was unpopular. I heard he gave away most of his money. He used to be rich, but he died poor."

Spinelli walked to the venetian blinds, parted them with his fingers and looked out into the rain. "Strange fellow. He hated everyone. He had a queer idea he owed everyone money. When you owe a person money you get to hate him."

Spinelli turned. His eyes burned darkly, as though some secret hatred was revealed for a moment in the depths of his own soul.

Smidkins shook his head. "No. His business with me was purely professional."

Golf's Biggest Tourney Begins

National Open Being Contested Over Texas Course; Officials To Check On Clubs

By Lawton Carver

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 5—With a field of approximately 170 ready to shoot and a Texas contingent favored to produce the successor to defending Champion Lawson Little, the National Open golf championship starting today over the tough and threatening Colonial Club Course faced a state of confusion through the revelation that United States Golf Association officials stationed on the first tee planned a minute inspection of the participants' clubs.

For the first time in the history of the hallowed event, those seeking the greatest and most coveted of all golfing prizes will be under suspicion of cheating when they walk out there to fire their opening shots, International News Service learned exclusively. The allegation is that some of the leading professionals have been defacing their irons to get better control of the ball.

RAY STARR TOPS PITCHERS WITH NINE VICTORIES

COLUMBUS, June 5—Ray Starr, Indianapolis pitcher was far out in front of the American Association pitching field today with nine victories.

His teammates had to go 11 innings last night, however, to nose out Minneapolis, 6 to 5, and give Starr the win. In the first half of the 11th, Buck Fausett's pinch double scored Frank Danneker to give the Millers a 5 to 4 lead.

In the Indianapolis half of the frame, singled by Kermit Lewis and Allen Hunt, a walk to Milt Galatzer, and Joe Bestudik's single tied the score. After another man was safe on a fielder's choice and Pinch Hitter Joe Mack fouled out, Wayne Blackburn brought in the winning run with a clout down the foul line.

The defeat of the Millers enabled the idle Kansas City club to increase its first-place lead to one full game over the Millers.

In the only other league game, St. Paul edged Louisville, 5 to 4, as Catcher Ed Fernandez poled a home run over the right center wall in the eighth inning to plate the tying and winning markers.

TIGER GOLFERS WIN HANDILY FROM AQUINAS

Circleville High golfers proved to be better mudders than the Columbus Aquinas team Wednesday afternoon, winning a match 8½ to 3½ over the Pickaway Country Club course.

The match was played in the rain.

Bob Moon, No. 2 man on the Tiger team, paced his mates with scores of 41-40-81 to take three points from Tom Curtis, who scored 45-43. Johnny Woods, Tiger captain, lost one of the few matches he has dropped this year, scoring 43-45, 88, to lose two points to Jack Clifford, Aquinas ace, who scored 44-41.

Frank Geib, in No. 3 position, took three points with 47-44, 91, against Burke's 52-46, 98, and Gerald Ayers gained a split at 1½ points each with Wilson, Ayers scoring 51-46 against 50-47.

In the season's play, the Red and Black has won six and lost five matches, the best teams in Central Ohio being met.

150 SENIOR GOLFERS OF STATE ENTER TOURNAMENT

COLUMBUS, June 5—More than 150 of Ohio's "over 50" golfers will battle mud and mire as well as par today, in the third annual 18-hole Ohio Senior's tournament at Scioto Country club.

Joe M. Wells, of East Liverpool, the defending champion, will be on hand to defend his title. He will get strong opposition from Raleigh W. Lee, of Columbus, former champion, Tom Hamilton, long-hitting Columbusite, Bob Stranahan, of Toledo Inverness and several other veterans of the links.

The tourney will be climaxed by the annual banquet tonight when Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert addresses the seniors.

REDLEGS-PHILS TO TRY AGAIN; ONE POSTPONED

PHILADELPHIA, June 5—The Cincinnati Redlegs hoped today to get in some baseball against the lowly Philadelphia Phils under the lights tonight. Yesterday's game was postponed because of wet grounds. Manager Bill McKechnie indicated he would send Johnny Vander Meer to the mound against the Phils' Cy Blanton tonight.

HEROES AND GOATS

Heroes: Art Johnson, Braves rookie southpaw, who pitched Cardinals out of first place. Jack Kramer, whose relief pitching held game safe for Browns.

Goats: Frank Crespi, Cardinals, who made two costly errors against Braves. Arnold Anderson, Senators, who blew lead to Browns.

Private Davis Trains for "War"

LOOKING fit as a fiddle, Private Al (Bummy) Davis, has returned to New York on leave from artillery camp, to train for his one-man "war" with Fritz Zivic, June 25, welterweight champion. Davis was suspended by the New York boxing commission for foul tactics after his first bout with Zivic but was reinstated for this one fight which will be staged in the Polo Grounds.

Luke Sewell Takes Over As New Brown Manager

ST. LOUIS, June 5—The St. Louis Browns, who have disappointed their followers so far this season despite the brightest prospects for the team in years, today set out under a new manager—Luke Sewell—in the hope a change in leadership will bring a change in their fortunes.

Sewell, whose appointment for the rest of this season and 1942 was announced last night by Don Barnes, president of the Browns, takes charge immediately. He replaces Fred Haney, who came to St. Louis as manager of the local American League club in 1939.

The swap of managers occasioned no great surprise as it had been rumored for some time. However, it was not expected when it came, for the Browns had just whipped Washington for the second straight day to move out of the cellar into seventh place.

Selection of Sewell brought to the Browns one of baseball's smartest coaches and a former great catcher. Until he signed to manage the Browns, Sewell was a coach for the Cleveland Indians, the team with which he was associated for 12 seasons when he was one of the best backups in the majors.

Sewell, who is expected to be particularly valuable in his handling of the Brown's promising pitching staff, broke into organized baseball in 1921, going to the Indians direct from the University of Alabama.

He caught for Cleveland for 12 years, then was traded to Washington in the winter of 1933 for Catcher Roy Spencer. He joined the Chicago White Sox in 1935 and became their first string catcher. In 1938, the Sox sold him to Brooklyn, and at the end of the next season the Dodgers gave Sewell his unconditional release, whereupon he signed as coach with the Indians.

Haney, a former third baseman, finished his active playing career with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League, stepping into a manager's berth with Toledo of the American Association in 1935. From Toledo, he came to the Browns.

Mack wins honor, but his boys lose joust

CHICAGO, June 5—Connie Mack, venerable 78-year-old manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, today carried a platinum and diamond watch as a token of the esteem in which he is held by Chicago baseball fans.

The watch and a plaque were presented to Mack by Mayor Edward J. Kelly last night in ceremonies at Comiskey Park just before the A's and the White Sox engaged in Chicago's first night game of the season.

A crowd of 32,654 persons cheered Mack and later on Pitcher Thornton Lee, who held the A's to five hits as the Sox won, 6 to 1, and climbed to within one game of the American League leading Cleveland Indians.

Chicago, 6; Philadelphia, 1.

TRIO OF BELLS TO BE USED IN CONN-LOUIS GO

NEW YORK, June 5—To avoid another contretemps such as occurred in the Buddy Baer-Joe Louis fight, when Baer claimed Louis had hit him after the bell, Promoter Mike Jacobs today had decided on an innovation for the Joe Louis-Billy Conn heavyweight title fight June 18.

In addition to the ordinary bell ending a round, he will have two other bells in neutral corners, each synchronized with the main bell so that there will be no danger of anybody failing to hear the bell.

He also has decided to have both boxers don bandages and gloves in the dressing rooms so that when they come out they will be ready to start the fight immediately instead of waiting five minutes or more for the usual pre-fight preliminaries in the ring.

National Open Being Contested Over Texas Course; Officials To Check On Clubs

By Lawton Carver

FORT WORTH, Texas, June 5—With a field of approximately 170 ready to shoot and a Texas contingent favored to produce the successor to defending Champion Lawson Little, the National Open golf championship starting today over the tough and threatening Colonial Club Course faced a state of confusion through the revelation that United States Golf Association officials stationed on the first tee planned a minute inspection of the participants' clubs.

For the first time in the history of the hallowed event, those seeking the greatest and most coveted

RAY STARR TOPS PITCHERS WITH NINE VICTORIES

COLUMBUS, June 5—Ray Starr, Indianapolis pitcher was far out in front of the American Association pitching field today with nine victories.

His teammates had to go 11 innings last night, however, to nose out Minneapolis, 6 to 5, and give Starr the win. In the first half of the 11th, Buck Fausett's pinch double scored Frank Danneker to give the Millers a 5 to 4 lead.

In the Indianapolis half of the frame, singled by Kermit Lewis and Allen Hunt, a walk to Milt Galatzer, and Joe Bestudik's single tied the score. After another man was safe on a fielder's choice and Pinch Hitter Joe Mack fouled out, Wayne Blackburn brought in the winning run with a clout down the foul line.

The defeat of the Millers enabled the idle Kansas City club to increase its first-place lead to one full game over the Millers.

In the only other league game, St. Paul edged Louisville, 5 to 4, as Catcher Ed Fernandez poled a home run over the right center wall in the eighth inning to plate the tying and winning markers.

TIGER GOLFERS WIN HANDILY FROM AQUINAS

Circleville High golfers proved to be better mudders than the Columbus Aquinas team Wednesday afternoon, winning a match 8½ to 3½ over the Pickaway Country Club course.

The match was played in the rain.

Bob Moon, No. 2 man on the Tiger team, paced his mates with scores of 41-40-81 to take three points from Tom Curtis, who scored 45-43. Johnny Woods, Tiger captain, lost one of the few matches he has dropped this year, scoring 43-45, 88, to lose two points to Jack Clifford, Aquinas ace, who scored 44-41.

Frank Geib, in No. 3 position, took three points with 47-44, 91, against Burke's 52-46, 98, and Gerald Ayers gained a split at 1½ points each with Wilson, Ayers scoring 51-46 against 50-47.

In the season's play, the Red and Black has won six and lost five matches, the best teams in Central Ohio being met.

BIG SCALE WAR BELIEVED NEAR IN SYRIAN AREA

Egyptian Port Attacked After British Blast Beirut Oil Bases

Syria were anticipated following yesterday's raid on the Shell Oil Co. properties at Beirut.

Other developments that seemed to set the stage of war in Syria was the British occupation of Mosul, Iraq, thereby giving British control of the Iraqi oil industry.

Meanwhile, in preparation for the storm to come, German units were reported filtering steadily into Syria by land, sea and air—then for the most part disappearing into the interior of the French-mandated country.

Three Planes Downed

During the German night raids on Britain three Nazi planes were shot down. Bombs fell on the midlands and other parts of England, but the Air Ministry said casualties were not heavy and damage not extensive.

From Melbourne, Australia, came an echo of the bitter criticism voiced in London over Britain's defeat in Crete.

Australian Prime Minister R. G. Menzies said he was in constant touch with London on the war and said every possible measure was being taken to prevent any repetition of the Crete debacle.

The influential newspaper Melbourne Age called for dominions representation on British war councils and called for a far-sighted, comprehensive strategy in the middle east.

MRS. HEBER ATER, INVALID FOR SEVEN YEARS, DIES

Mrs. Clydia Ater, wife of Heber Ater, died Thursday at 3 a. m. at her home in Deer Creek Township near Bazole Mills. She had been an invalid since 1934.

Mrs. Ater was a daughter of John W. and Ella Haughin. The funeral will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the home, the Rev. G. C. Reed of McArthur officiating with burial in Springlawn Cemetery by Kirkpatrick and Sons.

'GRANDMA' ACTIVE AT 78

SILSBEE, Tex. — "Grandma" Evans has her own way of celebrating birthdays; one she likes much better than the conventional ice-cream-and-cake-party affairs. Recently on her 78th birthday, she awoke early, drove 96 miles to the Gulf of Mexico, and spent the day fishing, along with her son Gilford, and her grandson, Jack.

BIG SCALE WAR BELIEVED NEAR IN SYRIAN AREA

Egyptian Port Attacked After British Blast Beirut Oil Bases

Syria were anticipated following yesterday's raid on the Shell Oil Co. properties at Beirut.

Other development that seemed to set the stage of war in Syria was the British occupation of Mosul, Iraq, thereby giving British control of the Iraqi oil industry.

Meanwhile, in preparation for the storm to come, German units were reported filtering steadily into Syria by land, sea and air—then for the most part disappearing into the interior of the French-mandated country.

Three Planes Downed

During the German night raids on Britain three Nazi planes were shot down. Bombs fell on the Midlands and other parts of England, but the Air Ministry said casualties were not heavy and damage not extensive.

From Melbourne, Australia, came an echo of the bitter criticism voiced in London over Britain's defeat in Crete.

Australian Prime Minister R. G. Menzies said he was in constant touch with London on the war and said every possible measure was being taken to prevent any repetition of the Crete debacle.

The influential newspaper Melbourne Age called for dominions representation on British war councils and called for a far-sighted, comprehensive strategy in the middle east.

'GRANDMA' ACTIVE AT 78
SILSBEE, Tex., — "Grandma" Evans has her own way of celebrating birthdays; one she likes much better than the conventional ice-cream-and-cake-party affairs. Recently on her 78th birthday, she awoke early, drove 96 miles to the Gulf of Mexico, and spent the day fishing, along with her son Gilford, and her grandson, Jack.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

ing in Minnesota. He chauffeured his late father in several statewide campaigns, one of them for the Senate. And he would have plenty of financial backing.

Independently wealthy as a result of earnings from his transatlantic flight, Lindbergh's wife also inherited a fortune from her father, the late Senator Dwight Morrow, a J. P. Morgan partner. Wealthy elements financing the isolationist-appeasement movement also have assured Lindbergh of unlimited funds for any political campaign he may undertake.

WHEELER VS. LINDBERGH

One man particularly interested in Lindbergh's presidential ambitions is Senator Burt Wheeler, who considers himself the No. 1 foe of the President's anti-Axis policies.

Wheeler has strong White House yearnings of his own; in fact, he had them since 1924 when he ran on a rump ticket with the late elder Senator Bob LaFollette. Again in 1932 Wheeler strenuously tried to get on the Roosevelt slate in place of Jack Garner, and one of the principal reasons for the Roosevelt-Wheeler split was his peeve at what he considered the President's ingratitude.

On the surface, relations between Wheeler and Lindbergh are friendly, but undercover the two men are none too cordial. On Wheeler's part this situation has not been improved since he has suspected Lindbergh's presidential aspirations.

Fifty-nine years old, Wheeler's last chance for the White House will be 1944; and he doesn't take kindly to the idea of having it wrested from him. He deems himself the top isolationist leader, and expects to cash in on that three years hence—when he is convinced, a new political party will have come to the fore and the situation will be ripe for a sweeping overturn.

Such a new party already is being quietly discussed in isolationist-appeasement quarters. At a recent secret meeting attended by several wealthy industrialists, one name proposed was the American Christian Party.

NOTE—Another America First campaigner who harbors secret presidential ambitions is Phil LaFollette, younger brother of the U. S. Senator. While Governor of Wisconsin three years ago, Phil launched an abortive National Progressive Party that had a lot of the trappings of Nazism, including a symbol resembling the swastika. Strong willed and one of the most effective political haranguers in the country, Phil considers himself a "man of destiny."

"WEEKEND" CAMPS

Weekend recreation camps—new wrinkle in Army morale activities—soon will be established all over the country. Idea is to give soldiers, particularly those stationed in rural areas, a Friday-to-Sunday respite from military regimen, plus a taste of city life.

The new camps will be located outside of those cities which can offer a wide range of recreational facilities—golf, public beaches, swimming pools, regulated dance halls, tennis courts and first-run movie houses. Military discipline will be kept at a minimum, with no revelry in the morning nor taps at night. The men can come and go without restrictions.

Each camp will accommodate from 400 to 800 men. There will be no charge for lodging, but meals taken at the mess hall will cost a small fixed sum. Soldiers will be transported to the center in rotated groups, so that every man can take a weekend off at regular intervals.

Eight experimental "weekend" camps already are in operation along the Gulf Coast, where many of the early inductees are concentrated. They have been so successful that the Army has decided to make the program nationwide.

NOTE—Also under consideration as morale boosters are free postage for service men, plus night baseball. Both proposals have been heartily approved by the President, are now pending in the hands of military recreation authorities.

COUNCIL TELLS COMMITTEE TO DRAW UP PARKING METER ORDINANCE

ACTION TO BE TAKEN AT NEXT DADS' SESSION

Survey Results Confusing, Declares Member Of City Body

MERCHANTS AT MEETING

Delegation Opposes Plan To Charge Parkers; Police Department Scored

Believing that further discussion of the parking problem with merchant groups was getting it nowhere, Council, Wednesday night, accepted the full responsibility of drawing up a parking system and instructed the safety committee together with the city solicitor to draw up a parking ordinance including meters.

The number of meters to be installed and whether the ordinance should provide for parallel or angle parking was left up to the safety committee. The safety committee, including J. H. Helwage, J. D. Mason and Clarence Helwage, will meet with Solicitor Joe Adkins next Wednesday night, work out an ordinance, and present it to Council at the next regular session.

Council's action was taken after Councilman Mason reported the results of the parking survey made in the downtown section. Of the 128 ballots cast, a slight majority favored parking meters, he told the councilmen, and explained that the results were "so confusing we hardly know what the merchants want."

Delegation Present

A delegation of merchants opposing the installation of meters appeared before Council, maintaining that the survey conducted should not represent the official opinion of the Retail Merchants, George Griffith, chairman of the Retail Merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce asked that in the fairness of those merchants who support the city, Council give serious consideration to the Retail Merchants' previous recommendations calling for 30 degree angle parking with five-minute double parking.

Henry Mader, North Court Street merchant, attacked the police department for the failure of the present parking system to operate, and suggested that the present parking laws be strictly enforced. Police Chief William McCrady denied that his department had not marked cars regularly and pointed out that the understaffed police department was unable to keep men on the streets at all times.

May Be Re-Routed

Traffic Officer Miller Fissell called for a quick solution of the parking situation either one way or the other, and told Council that he had received information through the state highway department stating that unless the problem was solved, Routes 22 and 23 would be rerouted outside the city.

Councilman Frank Lynch told his colleagues and merchants that he believed the merchants had worked up a "false fear" of the parking meter system, and on a motion from Councilman W. M. Reid, Council voted to "proceed with what we believe is just to all." The motion for a parking meter ordinance received the support of all councilmen but Clarence Helwage, who voted against the measure.

L. G. Wilken, Cincinnati, representative of the Michaels Art Bronze Company, Covington, Ky., manufacturers of meters, demonstrated a penny meter before Council. Meters manufactured by his company cost $45. They are installed on a trial basis, with the city and company each taking half of the revenue during the trial period. Should the city decide to buy the meters, the half taken by the meter company is credited to the city's account.

Mr. Wilken told Council he believed about 75 meters should be installed during the trial period. He estimates that each meter will bring in about $10 a month.

KINGSTON NAMES GAMBIER MAN AS SUPERINTENDENT

John O. Neiderhouser, superintendent of schools at Gambier for the last three years, has been employed by the Kingston board of education from a list of 25 applicants.

He is 32, attended Tiffin high school and was graduated from Heidelberg College. He will receive his masters degree this summer from Ohio State University. Neiderhouser succeeds Roy Holmes, who has resigned to accept the superintendency at Milford.

DR. E. C. ROBBINS OF CHILLICOTHE STRICKEN AT 48

CHILLICOTHE, June 5 — Dr. E. C. Robbins, 48, stricken Tuesday when he was on a confinement case, died Wednesday afternoon in Chillicothe hospital of what was believed to be a brain hemorrhage.

Dr. Robbins, a Chillicothe high graduate, was an outstanding athlete when in high school and served overseas in the Thirty-ninth Division.

He was city physician under four mayors.

His widow, Pauline Levy Robbins, and a daughter, Nancy, a junior in Chillicothe High, survive him.

PORT COLUMBUS LOSES ITS ROLE AS DEFENSE LINK

COLUMBUS, June 5 — Port Columbus has been disapproved by the war department as a vital defense base, Mayor Floyd F. Green pointed out today. The city is seeking $500,000 from the federal government for improvements at the site.

Mayor Green left for Washington last night. There he said he would confer with navy officials in an effort to obtain their certification that the port should be included as an important defense

WHITE OAK CAMP HOLDS ITS MEMORIAL SERVICES

White Oak Camp No. 10323 of Modern Woodmen, located at Yellowbud, report a successful Memorial Day service conducted last Sunday at Springbank Church. Music and an address by Ray

W. Davis of Circleville featured the day. Graves were decorated in Springbank, Williamsport and Brown's Chapel cemeteries. Walter Derexson, secretary of the lodge, was chairman of the meeting.

No one seems to know where the custom of standing at baseball games during the seventh inning originated. The custom was followed as early as 1890. Some claim it was due to the old term of craps—come seven.
